URGENT NEED: SAVE THE DYP CENTER FOR REFUGEES!

The Do Your Part (DYP) Center for Refugees in Greece serves 600 people who have fled unimaginable conditions and extreme violence in their home country of Syria and walked over 1200 miles in a desperate bid for the chance at a better life for their families. With winter approaching, these people, including 75 pregnant and nursing Moms and almost 300 children (90 of whom are under 2 years old), are languishing in a poorly run refugee camp that simply does not provide for their basic needs. Their only sanctuary for humanitarian aid is the DYP Center for Refugees just down the street from their camp. They provide free medical care, language classes, and collect and distribute warm winter clothing, diapers and nutritious food for pregnant and nursing Moms who aren't getting enough to eat. Today, as the holidays set in and we dust off our Christmas ornaments with great anticipation, we have learned that the Center is in trouble. The funds that once poured out upon the refugee crisis have slowed to a trickle and the Center is out of money. If we don't help them now, they will be forced to close their doors and the 600 refugees at the neighboring camp will be left alone. They need our help.

About the DYP Center for Refugees and Lisa Campbell

The DYP Center for Refugees was created by our friend, Lisa Campbell, when the Greek government closed down the refugee camp she had run for two years for political reasons, then reopened it 5 months later under government control with a whole new refugee community (this time from Syria). Knowing something of the negligence that would follow for the people she had come to love, Lisa, who has now been working for 3 years without pay, couldn't bare to leave these people alone in their desperation. So she and her volunteer Do

Your Part team set up the Center just down the street to help meet their basic needs that would otherwise go unmet.

Lisa is the Executive Director of a small grassroots, all volunteer 501(c)3 non-profit organization called Do Your Part (DYP), the organization that runs the DYP Center for Refugees. Do Your Part runs entirely on private donations and does not receive government or large corporate funding. After three years of selfless service to the refugees, Lisa's also got a backlog of expenses. If you are happy for your donation to be used to either directly cover the expenses of the community center OR to help cover Lisa's expenses, please add “use for greatest need” in the comment section when you donate!
